Q&A

What about other notices required by Florida statutes —must they still run in the print edition?

A Florida House Bill 35 says that regardless of the internet-only authorization, any other statute requiring publication in the print edition "may not be superseded." Thus, privately placed notices like those pertaining to foreclosures and storage units cannot be run using the newspaper website-only option and must continue to be placed in print.

Newsprint is inherently superior to the internet for public notice because reading a newspaper is a serendipitous process.

We find things in newspapers we weren't expecting to see. On the internet, we search for specific information and ignore everything else.

Citizens continue to learn about vital civic matters from newspaper notices.

Documented examples of people taking action and alerting their community after reading a newspaper notice are reported on a regular basis.

Verifying publication is difficult-to-impossible on the web.

That's why the courts subject digital evidence to far greater scrutiny than evidence published in newspapers

Significant numbers of people in rural areas still lack high-speed internet access.

Those who are older than 65 or who have lower incomes or lack high-school diplomas are also cut off from the internet in far higher numbers than the average.

Moreover, the real digital divide for public notice is growing

due to the massive migration to smartphones and other small-screen digital devices

Governments aren't very good at publishing information on the internet.

Unlike newspaper publishers, public officials aren't compelled by the free market to operate effective websites.

ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS OF A PUBLIC NOTICE

Federal and state public notice statutes generally establish four fundamental criteria for a public notice.

Each of these elements are critical aspects of the checks and balances that public notice was designed to foster.

1. Accessible

Every citizen in the jurisdiction affected by the notice must have a realistic opportunity to read it

2. Archivable

Notices must be capable of being archived in a secure and publicly available format for the use of the judicial system, researchers and historians

3. Independent

Notices must be published by organizations independent of the government body or corporation whose plans or actions are the subject of the notice

4. Verifiable

There must be a way to verify that each notice was an original, unaltered notice and actually published in accordance with the law
