What makes public notices in newspapers superior to other forms of notices?

Public notices in newspapers are serendipitous. When readers page through a newspaper, they will find important public notice information they otherwise would not find anywhere else.

Rarely do consumers specifically search online for public notices.

Why Public Notice Should Remain in Newspapers

Along with open meeting and freedom of information laws, public notice is an essential element of the three-legged stool of government transparency

This is not about “newspapers vs the internet”.

It’s newspapers and newspaper websites vs government websites and newspaper websites have a much larger audience. Moving notice from newspapers to government websites would reduce the presence of public notices on the internet

Requiring independent, third-party newspapers to ensure that public notices run in accordance with the law helps prevent government officials from hiding information they would prefer the public not to see

Since the first U.S. Congress, public officials have understood that newspapers are the best medium to notify the public about official matters because they contain the essential elements of public notice:

Accessibility

Independence

Verifiability

Archivability

Publishing notices on the internet is neither cheap nor free

Newspapers remain the primary vehicle for public notice in all 50 states

Types Of Public Notices

Citizen Participation Notices

Government Meetings and Hearings

Land and Water Use

Meeting Minutes or Summaries

Creation of Special Tax Districts

Agency Proposals

School District Reports

Proposed Budgets and Tax Rates

Zoning, Annexation and Land Use Changes

Commercial Notices

Unclaimed Property, Banks or Governments

Delinquent Tax Lists, Tax Deed Sales

Government Property Sales

Permit and License Applications

Court Notices

Mortgage Foreclosures

Name Changes

Probate Rulings

Divorces and Adoptions

Newsprint is inherently superior to the internet for public notice because reading a newspaper is a serendipitous process.

We find things in newspapers we weren't expecting to see. On the internet, we search for specific information and ignore everything else.

Citizens continue to learn about vital civic matters from newspaper notices.

Documented examples of people taking action and alerting their community after reading a newspaper notice are reported on a regular basis.

Verifying publication is difficult-to-impossible on the web.

That's why the courts subject digital evidence to far greater scrutiny than evidence published in newspapers

Significant numbers of people in rural areas still lack high-speed internet access.

Those who are older than 65 or who have lower incomes or lack high-school diplomas are also cut off from the internet in far higher numbers than the average.

Moreover, the real digital divide for public notice is growing

due to the massive migration to smartphones and other small-screen digital devices

Governments aren't very good at publishing information on the internet.

Unlike newspaper publishers, public officials aren't compelled by the free market to operate effective websites.

ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS OF A PUBLIC NOTICE

Federal and state public notice statutes generally establish four fundamental criteria for a public notice.

Each of these elements are critical aspects of the checks and balances that public notice was designed to foster.

1. Accessible

Every citizen in the jurisdiction affected by the notice must have a realistic opportunity to read it

2. Archivable

Notices must be capable of being archived in a secure and publicly available format for the use of the judicial system, researchers and historians

3. Independent

Notices must be published by organizations independent of the government body or corporation whose plans or actions are the subject of the notice

4. Verifiable

There must be a way to verify that each notice was an original, unaltered notice and actually published in accordance with the law
